

Judge rules in favor of police chief in PSE row

SIDEWALK SERENADE — Bearing a very vague resemblance to Ted Lewis, Hal Denham, in plug hat, plugs Albany's Solano-San Pablo avenue's Sidewalk Sale in front of Gordon's Piano Shop, this week. Hal, Joe McNulty and Bob Gordon are tuning up for the event scheduled May 5, 6 and 7. The sales are being sponsored by the Albany Chamber of Commerce, the Independent, Gazette and Albany Times. Most of the individual participating stores will have a coupon prize drawing in their own place of business, May 7, after which all coupons will be taken to the Albany Bowl for the Grand Prizes drawing on May 10. A tabloid section will be inserted in the Albany Times, Berkeley Gazette, and the El Cerrito area of the Independent on Wednesday, May 3rd containing the coupons for all the drawings. Many special items will be offered during this special 3 day promotion which will involve both in-store and Sidewalk Sales.

Albany doctor convicted in Laetrile cancer-case

SAN DIEGO — Four California men accused in a Laetrile-smuggling conspiracy say their conviction actually helps promote legalization of the apricot-pit extract as a cancer treatment.

"It's another milestone in the total battle. A lot of people will look at this case with disdain and dismay," said Dr. John Richardson after the jury returned the verdict Thursday.

"The government engaged in overwhelming misconduct," he added.

Others convicted in what the government contends was a long-term conspiracy to smuggle big quantities of Laetrile over the border from Mexico included William Bradford of Los Altos and Frank Salaman of Redwood City, the president and vice president of the Committee for Freedom of Choice in Cancer Therapy. Bradford said the committee's campaign on behalf of Laetrile will continue, despite the verdict.

Richard, who during the 40-day trial testified he gives the substance to patients at his clinic in Albany, told reporters that U.S. District Court Judge William Enright erred in banning testimony on the merits of Laetrile.

But Asst. U.S. Atty. Herbert Hoffman said Laetrile as a medication was not the question in the trial, but rather the issue concerned whether there was the smuggling of merchandise.

Enright set sentencing for the four men for May 16, although they will appeal the conviction that also included counts of conspiracy to receive, conceal, transport and distribute smuggled contraband.

Each man could receive up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine on each of multiple counts.

The fourth man convicted was Ralph Bowman of El Cerrito, business manager of Richardson's clinic.

Albany kindergarten registration slated

ALBANY — The Albany Unified School District will register children for admission to kindergarten in the fall of 1977 on May 3rd from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Children may be registered by parents at either Vista, Cornell, or Marin Schools. All University Village children are to be registered at Cornell School, although this does not imply that children will be assigned next year to that school. Richard Rose, district assistant superintendent, said today.

"Parents should bring the child's birth certificate and be prepared to fill out health forms which require a record of vaccinations, immunizations, and childhood diseases. Verification of the child's immunizations for polio, measles (rubeola) and D.P.T. for each kindergarten child are also required," Rosequist said.

"No child can unconditionally enter kindergarten next fall unless he has had these immunizations. However, if a child has had measles, immunization for the disease is not required." School nurses will be present at registration to assist parents and check medical information.

"An accurate Spring registration is important to the school district for planning next year's kindergarten classes. If registration on that Tuesday afternoon is not possible, please register your child during school hours at any elementary school as soon as possible after May 3rd. Children are eligible for public school kindergarten if the child will be five years of age on or before December 2, 1977.

"The District cannot accept registration for children who are younger than that age even though the child may have had several years of preschool experience. Parents who may wish to consult a school counselor about their pre-kindergarten child may make an appointment at the registration desk," he concluded.

Middle School open house

ALBANY — Albany Middle School will hold Open House in all classrooms from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. on April 27. From 8 to 8:15 p.m. a brief P.T.A. meeting will be conducted. An instrumental musical program and a fashion show by the Eighth Grade Clothing Class will follow.

"Principal Bob Shogren and all teachers will be present to meet parents."

ALBANY — The city council has lost a major battle — and perhaps the war — with its defiant police chief over the use of a controversial lie detector device.

In a letter delivered to city officials Monday, Alameda County Superior Court Judge Harold Hove indicated he agrees with Police Chief James Simmons that the city council had exceeded its authority to ban the use of the Psychological Stress Evaluator (PSE).

The judge gave the city 30 days to come up with convincing argument that the ban was proper under the city's charter. If the city fails, Hove will issue a formal decision in favor of the chief.

The city council voted 3-2 in January to halt Simmons' use of the PSE, a device designed to determine the truth or falsity of a suspect's statements by measuring and recording changes in voice patterns during interrogations.

The vote followed an appeal by citizens who claimed the machine was unreliable.

But Simmons, who has been using the device for three years and said it was reliable, promptly tossed the gauntlet by announcing he would defy the order. He hired an attorney and in effect dared the city to take him to court. The city did.

The city filed a writ of alternative mandate, which asked the court to order Simmons to stop using the machine or show up in court to persuade the judge why he should not stop. Simmons countered by filing his own action, arguing that the council's decision was illegal.

Albany City Atty. Larry Saler said yesterday after the receipt of the judge's letter that he did not know whether the city will try again to defend the council's vote, or wait until the ruling becomes final and then appeal.

He said he will present a memorandum of the ruling to council members at next Monday's meeting.

Council cannot impeach chief

ALBANY — Police Chief James Simmons may not be impeached for continuing to defy a city council order, but he might be docked pay or suspended, said Vice Mayor Patrick Griffin.

The Albany City Council will continue its fight to ban the use by the police of a special type of "lie detector" according to Griffin Monday night.

The council lost the first round in a court test of its power to prevent elected Police Chief Simmons from using the Psychological Stress Evaluator (PSE) in a decision rendered this week by Alameda County Superior Court Judge Harold Hove.

Judge Hove upheld Simmons' contention that he is within his authority to disregard a council policy resolution banning the device, and gave the city 30 days to provide more convincing arguments.

Griffin said that city council members would have an attorney-client consultation with City Attorney Lawrence Saler very soon to discuss legal arguments in the case. The councilman said Saler had argued the case before three different judges, and that each one had a different opinion.

"We'll come up with the issues that Judge Hove is interested in addressing," the councilman said.

The council voted 3-2 last January to halt Simmons' use of the device, which records a suspect's voice and measures changes in voice patterns to determine the truth or falsity of his statements.

Councilman Lewis Howell, who opposed the ban along with Councilman Robert Luoma, said Monday, "I think it (Judge Hove's ruling) is wonderful."

Howell noted that the city had long ago established the prerogatives of the police chief, and this was clearly one of them.

Griffin said that if the city is able to gain a reversal of the judge's ruling, the council would then "be in a position to consider disciplinary action against the chief."

He said he does not consider Simmons' defiance on this one issue grounds for impeachment, but that a suspension or a salary cut might be in order.

The council views the device, nicknamed the "PSE," as unreliable, but Simmons, who has been using one for the past three years, considers it a valuable crime detection aid.

The city filed a writ of alternative mandate last winter, asking the court to order Simmons to stop using the machine or to tell the court why he should not stop.

Simmons hired an attorney and filed a counter action, charging the city council's action was an illegal usurpation of his power as police chief.

Republican Women's Club plans Cherry Blossom Tea

KENSINGTON — Members of the Kensington Republican Women's Club will host a "Cherry Blossom Tea" in the Arlington Community Church, at 52 Arlington Ave., April 27.

A program of music and travel slides are planned, according to Mrs. J. A. Scalia, club spokeswoman.

"John Aker will show pictures of the Orient," Mrs. Scalia said, "and Judy Whiting and John Gensemer will sing, accompanied by Joanne Gaale at the piano. Judy is a member of the Contra Costa Theater, and both she and Dan played lead roles in 'Show Boat.'"

Here's what happened to Rosie the Riveter

By WOODY JOHANNES
I-G Staff Writer

ALBANY — There were thousands of "Rosie the Riveters" during the hectic days of World War II — women who manned America's assembly lines, tackled factory work and, frequently, filled key jobs in heavy construction. This all-volunteer corps furnished replacements for men going into military service.

Their accomplishments are legendary. Working eight, 10 and 12 hour shifts, the Rosies maintained (and in some cases increased) production of military and civilian supplies. While Churchill was promising nothing but blood, sweat and tears, Rosie was delivering the tools, fuels and weapons of war in a steady stream — a flow that became a major factor in stemming the advance of Hitler and Hirohito.

A song of the era, "Rosie the Riveter," gave the gallant crews their name, and the "men's work" they did gave them international fame. But several wars and three decades later the memories of their contributions have faded.

Now a pair of film producers — Connie Field and Lorraine Kahn, are launching plans which they hope will revive and perpetuate those memories — and give Rosie her rightful place in history.

The two East Coast women have spent a year researching the Rosie phenomenon as a preliminary step in filming "The Life and Times of Rosie the Riveter."

Most of their research has been concentrated in New York, Detroit and Los Angeles and — most recently — in the Bay Area.

Their principal question: "What ever happened to Rosie?" has been answered by some 400 women. Over a hundred of the old crew have been discovered in this area, and at least one still resides in Albany.

Irene Rosenberg Petrel, now living at 1320 Marine Ave., was a student at UC when Pearl Harbor was attacked. She promptly applied for, and got, a job at the Mare Island shipyards where her father and sister also were employed. She was signed on as an electrician's helper second class — the first woman in the shipyard's electrician's department.

After WW II was properly disposed of, Irene completed her education and then went to work for the Shell Development Co. (research division of Shell Petroleum), and worked there as a draftsman for 16 years.

Apparently she still experiences some nostalgia. "The war period was the only time I can remember in which the U.S. had full employment and women could almost choose what kind of work they went into," she recalled recently.

Clovis Walker, who has made her home in Richmond for the past 35 years, came from Arkansas to get a war job. Kaiser Shipyards gave her just three-days of training as a welder, and put her to work on shell-welding.

"Proportionately it was the most money I've ever made," she said yesterday. After the war she enrolled in a beauticians' college and, upon completion of the course, went to work in a Richmond beauty salon. She retired recently.

Before the war, Francis Albier of Berkeley worked in a book bindery on a WPA project. After hostilities got under way she entered a welders' school in Oakland, attending classes from 11 p.m. to 4 a.m. to learn the trade. The instruction qualified her for a Kaiser Shipyards job and, after six months of work, she was given journeyman rank. Mrs. Albier now lives at 1621 Oregon St.

Connie Watkins Billings' principal business experience, prior to the war, was working in a service station and restaurant operated by her family. She left the Bay Area in 1942 to take a job in Lockheed's Los Angeles plant.

"So many women were being hired that I thought: 'Why don't I try asking for a job on the swing shift?' I filled out an application and they put me to work as a riveter and later promoted me to template and layout work."

But the day the war ended I was laid off," she lamented. Mrs. Billings returned to the Bay Area and now is living at 118 Sunnyside Ave. in Piedmont.

Dot Mahoney made radar tubes during the war, using lathes and open flames. She was the first woman to work at Heinz and Kaufman, making vacuum transmitting tubes for radio stations.

"But I was laid off with the rest of the women workers hired for the war effort when VJ day came. Since that time I've worked in a hospital, for a telephone company, and for an answering service. And I've raised six children."

Mrs. Mahoney's most recent job was as a switchboard operator. She is living at 4132 Joan Ave. in Concord, and currently is unemployed and seeking work.

These Rosies apparently are typical of the World War II contingent that fought on the home front, according to researchers Field and Kahn. Their lives "are typical of Rosie — tell what really happened to Rosie the Riveter."

"Common myth has it that women took defense jobs for patriotic reasons only," Ms. Field said. "We are finding that most women worked before the war, needed to work during."

Big winner at Albany racetrack

ALBANY — A retired government employee from Richmond won the top sweepstakes prize of $10,000 Saturday in selecting the winner of the Golden Gate Handicap at Golden Gate Fields.

Elmo Mignone, acting on the advice of his son Rick, submitted only one ticket on Announcer who won the mile and a sixteenth turf race in a track record time of 1:40 2/5 Saturday. His name was drawn first in the sweepstakes drawing for Announcer.

"I got it — I got it —" screamed the excited Mignone as he watched Announcer and jockey Marco Castaneda come from behind to win the Golden Gate Handicap. "I just can't believe it."

'Spring Concert'

ALBANY — Folk songs, spirituals, patriotic tunes, and "art music from the world's finest composers" will constitute the program of vocal music to be performed this evening by the Albany High School Choir at its annual Spring Festival. Curtain time, at the Marin School auditorium, is 8 p.m.

Navy Reservist meeting slated

ALBANY — Active and Retired Personnel of Navy, Marine Corp. and Coast Guard will attend a regular business meeting of the Fleet Reserve, East Bay Branch and Unit 125 at the Veterans Memorial Hall, 1325 Portland Ave., Albany, at 8 p.m. Thursday, according to a reservist spokesman.

School board says 'no'

ALBANY — The Albany school board is standing pat in its decision not to become involved in the city's new human relations commission, despite a visit from city officials.

Councilman Robert Luoma and City Administrator James Turner attended a school board meeting last week, outlining the city's plans for drawing up an ordinance creating the new commission.

However, Board President Robert Nehls told the officials that the board is not interested at this time. He also invited them to keep the board informed of any new developments.

The city council had envisioned a 12-member commission, with two members appointed by each council member and two members appointed by the school board.

Earlier, the school board had sent a letter to the council, indicating its decision "not to participate."

The board had indicated that there was a "limited amount of information made available," prompting the council to send Luoma and Turner to a board meeting with additional information.

The city council earlier had instructed City Attorney Larry Saler to prepare an ordinance creating the commission which would reportedly function like a grand jury in many respects, investigating "human relations violations."

It would also propose new human relations programs, according to the council.

Council backs application for park grant

The Albany City Council has approved submitting a $100,000 grant application for the development of Middle School Park.

The application, written by Park and Recreation Superintendent Emile J. Rooney and approved unanimously Monday seeks a 75 percent state matching grant.

The grants were made available under the Urban Open Space and Recreation Program Act.

The park is jointly owned by the city and the school district and is adjacent to the recently completed Middle School, just north of University Village.

The five and a half acre development would include tennis courts, a multi-use field with softball and soccer playing areas, picnic sites, a jogging track, a calisthenics course and an apparatus area.

Total project cost is estimated at $300,000, with $150,000 to come from federal revenue sharing funds.

A model of the project is on display in the city hall. In other actions Monday the council:

—Approved a variance request by Michael Corniola to construct a screened patio room in the rear of his residence at 818 Curtis St. reducing to seven feet the required rear yard and allowing a one foot encroachment on the side yard.

The planning and zoning commission had opposed this variance on the grounds that members feared this would set a precedent for future variance requests of this type.

—Approved the elimination of four parking spaces on San Pablo Avenue in conjunction with installation of traffic signal lights on the avenue at Cray and Brighton streets. The resolution adopted unanimously by the council also provides for establishing a left turn "channel" on San Pablo.

—Denied an appeal by a 3-2 vote from a planning and zoning decision granting a use permit to Lloyd Rucker to build a new single-family dwelling at 861 Hillside St. This reversed the council's earlier denial of the use permit at the request of neighbors of the Rucker property who contended that the proposed home was to be considerably taller than surrounding dwellings and thus would permit the Ruckers to look down into the backyards of adjoining properties.

Mayor Joyce Jackson was the "swing" vote on the council, and she, along with council members Robert Luoma and Lewis Howell, voted to sustain the planning and zoning commission's decision.

The appellants in the case were John and Maria Bal-don, Jr., of 837 Hillside, who live two doors down from the property, one of only six pie-shaped lots in the city. The shape of the lots created much of the controversy, because the zoning ordinance only contemplated rectangular lots with respect to the back yard requirements.

Councilmen Michael Gleason and Patrick Griffin voted against the use permit.

Griffin contended that the structure should conform with the design of other up-sloping hillside homes, which he said are mostly concentrated at the front of the lot.

The Rucker home, designed by Leon Rimov, is designed to conform to the land contour, and hence, is concentrated at the rear of the lot, 27 feet from the rear property line.

Gleason said he felt the appeal should be granted under provisions of the zoning ordinance under which the council may deny a use permit when the "general welfare" of the neighborhood or the community is at stake.

tative date for the town meet is May 14. Sponsors of the project believe review of the New England Colonial civic enclave will attract "great local interest" and aid officials in charting a course of action for Albany. —Luoma Photo

PG&E bills are going up again

ALBANY — Albany householders can expect a rate increase in their PG&E bills of "about two dollars," Gary F. Wood, manager of the area office, said today.

The increases, granted by the state Public Utilities Commission, total $70.1 million annually in natural gas rates and $63.2 million for electricity.

The increases will not affect lifeline rates, but will be applied to all usage over those levels. They are effective immediately.

A spokesman for PG&E said the increase will amount to about 40 cents a month on the typical household bill for 10 months of gas, which has been $16.91. The typical electric bill for 500 kilowatts, which was $17.58, will go up $1.47 a month.

The PUC said the increases are to recover higher costs of gas and the increased cost of production electricity.

Most of the increase in gas — $69.4 million — resulted from increased cost of gas from California producers. Another $700,000 was budgeted to recover higher costs of out-of-state gas supplied by El Paso Natural Gas Co.

The increase in electricity rates came under an energy cost adjustment clause which allows rate increases for higher costs of generating power.

Ms. Kahn added: "We want to recapture the important work these women performed, the fights against racism and sexism waged on the home front during the war, the pride and dignity that women and minorities felt during these times. We intend to show how this period changed their lives forever, and how their work was vital in changing the course of history."

"The Life and Times of Rosie the Riveter" will be a hour-long documentary funded by foundation grants and private individuals. We expect to complete the project within another year in network television and in screening before unions, churches, women's groups, community organizations, schools and colleges.

Meanwhile, Rosie the Riveter still is very much with us.

Hometown news

When Albany High School Librarian Mary Wallmann discusses mystery volumes, these days, she's not talking about detective yarns. The mystery lies in where the books go.

The library, which normally keeps eight to 10,000 volumes on its shelves, is losing books at the rate of 200 or more per year.

"Last week," Mrs. Wallmann signed, "we bought a Collier's Encyclopedia for $350. Yesterday volume 11 of the set vanished. To replace that one book will cost between $15 and $20.

"But we're not unique — libraries all over the area are being robbed blind. Berkeley's public library loses an unbelievable amount and UC's library losses must run into thousands of dollars annually.

"We've considered buying a detector system but nothing definite has been decided, as yet. These detectors are fairly simple devices — a thin strip of magnetized metal is inserted in the spine of each book. When the books are properly checked out the volumes are desensitized, but if a person attempts to walk through the turnstyle with an unchecked book the strip causes a warning buzzer to sound."

"Then," Mrs. Wallmann said gravely, "we tell the person that he has forgotten to check his book."

"The San Jose Public Library has installed this system in 10 percent of its books. The strips cost 10 cents apiece so the library cannot "bug" all the volumes at one time.

"But the persons using the library can't tell which books are equipped with the alarm system, and that has cut losses 80 percent almost overnight.

"And all losses aren't from thefts — some people are just forgetful, and leave our books on their home shelves for months. Last year we had some of our own books donated to us for the library book sale — volumes that people undoubtedly had forgotten to return.

"It's frustrating. Periodicals are a problem, too. At the moment we're asking Albanyites to donate old copies of current magazines — especially sports magazines. The kids love 'em and we can use all we can get. We can't keep an adequate supply.

Heat's still going up. Insulate.

The cost of heating a house is still going up. Hot air rises, too. That's why the attic is often where most home heat is lost. And your attic may be insulated, but inadequately, without your even knowing it. Insulating an attic to R-19, the recommended standard, can save up to 25% of your heat. And you'll be more comfortable.

In a typical California house it should cost about $300 to $400 if you get a qualified contractor to do it. Less if you do it yourself.

So send for our free insulation booklet. It tells you how to check whether your insulation is adequate, and if not, what to do.

Church activities in the Albany area

ALBANY CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

"Probation After Death" is the subject for next Sunday at 11 a.m. The Bible Lesson Sermon will conclude with this statement from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The days of our pilgrimage will multiply instead of diminish, when God's kingdom comes on earth; for the true way leads to life instead of to death, and earthly experience discloses the finity of error and the infinite capacities of Truth, in which God gives man dominion over all the earth." The Reading Room will be open Tuesday, April 24 from 2 to 4 p.m. The address is 1358 Marin Ave.

ALBANY UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

On Sunday morning at 11, at the United Methodist Church, 980 Stannage Ave., there will be a "special worship service in the form of music." Organist Clara Roberts will play requested hymns.

There also will be an organ-piano duet with Clara Roberts and Francis Lozier. Nursery care will be provided for small children.

ALBANY CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

The Rev. Richard Roy, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, will conduct the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday in the church at 850 Talbot Ave. Assisting him will be Dorothy France at the piano and Johanna Ferguson at the organ.

Associate Pastor Lupe Torrez will speak at the 7 p.m. service. His topic will be: "Are Preachers Necessary?"

CHURCH WOMEN UNITED

IN ALBANY-BERKELEY On April 30 Church Women United in Albany-Berkeley will be hosts to a Regional Workshop, the "Whole Ways Workshop," to be held at the Lutheran Church of the Cross, 1744 University Ave. The focus will be on "Recognizing—Understanding—Celebrating Our Diversity," and will be led by the state president, Olive Hoffman and first vice-president, Helen Tuomy.

There will be unit officer training, "fun, fellowship, education and insight for all who attend."

Worship, meditation and inspiration are part of the workshops. Parking will be available at the church or at the Flamingo Motel across the street. Registration is 50 cents and child care is available.

Hostesses for the day will include: Unit President Ethel Elizabeth Crumney, Jean Rosen and Julia Whitehead. Registration starts at 9 a.m., convening at 10 a.m. and closing at 2:30 p.m. "Bring sack lunch and finger food to share," an organization spokesman said.

ST. ALBAN'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The Rev. Warren Debenham, rector, will celebrate Holy Communion this morning at 11:30.

The Rev. Peter Haynes, Episcopal chaplain for the University of California in Berkeley, will be the guest preacher at both the 8 and 10 a.m. services on Sunday, April 24. Father Debenham will celebrate Holy Communion, and will be assisted by Father Haynes, the Rev. Francis Symons, deacon, and Nabeel Jacob, lay reader.

R. L. Spurrier will be the lector, reading the Scriptural lesson from the book of Acts. The acolytes will be Alan Levinson at the early service and Leonard Johnson and Jennifer Rogers at the later one.

The Senior Choir's offertory anthem will be "Good Christian Men, Rejoice and Sing." Scheduled to usher are Mark Crewdson and R. L. Spurrier. A coffee hour in the parish hall will follow the 10 o'clock service.

The adult discussion group will meet with Father Debenham at 9 a.m. in the parish library.

St. Alban's Episcopal Church is at 1501 Washington Ave., Albany.

TRINITY UNITED METHODIST CHURCH OF BERKELEY

Trinity Chamber Concerts presents pianist Alan Dunn in recital on Sunday, at 2:30 p.m. at Trinity Methodist Church, Dana at Durant.

Dunn is "an unusually sensitive young musician who has won several local competitions, including the Berkeley Etude Club Competition." His program will include works by Haydn, Beethoven, Chopin, and Liszt.

Admission to the Trinity Concerts is free, but donations are welcomed.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH This Sunday at the 11 a.m. service, Pastor Larry R.

Campbell will deliver a sermon titled "Temper, Temper." The Chancel Choir will sing an anthem. There will be nursery care for small children.

Sunday School Classes for all ages meet starting at 9:30 a.m.

A concert of organ music will be presented at 7 p.m. Deborah Allin, church organist and accompanist at Contra Costa College, will bring a varied program of sacred music for the organ. Following the concert there will be an "Afterglow" in the Fellowship Hall with refreshments and fellowship.

GRACEMONT BAPTIST CHURCH

April 24 will be Youth Sunday at Gracemont Baptist Church, 1221 Marin Ave. The morning services begin at 11 a.m. and the evening rites at 6.

Services will be entirely devoted to the youth of Gracemont. The youth will be participating in all phases of the worship services.

Bible and prayer group study is conducted each Wednesday, beginning at 7 p.m.

If that's a duck . . .

The story of Peter and the Wolf came very much alive for Albany school children recently when members of the East Bay Ballet Theatre put on performances for youngsters in elementary schools, pre-schools and children's centers. The City of Albany provided a $500 grant to assist with sets, costumes and choreography.

Appearing in the production were Tassia Hooks as Peter, Kathy Sieh as the bird, Karen Fortner as the duck, Karen Sue Taussig as the cat, Katie Robben as Peter's grandfather, Wendy Larrick, Martha Price, and Julie Lemberger as the hunters, and Luana Nietsch as the wolf. Jane Stamps of Albany is artistic director of the teen-age ballet company and Marianne Woodson designed and executed the costumes.

Etude Club featuring AHS Ensemble Singers

ALBANY — The "Albany High School Ensemble Singers," a group of 15 vocalists "chosen for their exceptional musicianship from among members of the Albany High School Choir," will be featured on a program being presented by the Etude Club of Berkeley.

The musical, scheduled at 1 p.m. Monday at the Hillside Club, at 2286 Cedar St., is a part of the club's annual "Silver Tea." Offerings put in a silver bowl aid in financing the annual Etude Award.

"The Albany High Ensemble's repertoire covers an extensive range of musical styles, from the art music of the world's most famous composers to the popular music of our own era," Marie Jackson, Etude spokesman, said yesterday.

"They will be directed by Dosier Helsabeck in: 'Adoremus Te' by Palestrina; 'How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place' by Brahms; 'Sanctus' by Haydn and folksongs, spirituals and patriotic songs — 'When Love is Kind'; 'Set Down Servant.' 'The Dream is America' and 'The Sow Took the Measles.' Accompanist is Mary Wallmann.

Also featured will be 16-year-old James Lee, cellist, who studies with Margaret Rowell. In March he received the "Estelle Drummond Swift Scholarship" from the Memorial Scholarship Foundation of the Music Teachers Association, Alameda branch. His brother Jason will accompany him.

"Hungarian Dance No. 6 in D Flat Major" by Brahms will be presented by Mary Moore and Michael Moore in duet form, at the piano. "Scaramouche" — Suite Pour Deux Pianos, VII, Modera-Brazileira" will be performed also by Mary and Michael Moore.

Albanyite is honored for civic work

ALBANY — Albanyite John Pleich, a native of Yugoslavia, is among the 30 men and women representing 38 nationalities and ethnic communities who will be honored by the International Institute of East Bay at its Eighth Annual Awards Dinner.

The awards will be presented by the Honorable John Reading, mayor of Oakland, in recognition of "outstanding contributions to the East Bay communities." The dinner session will be preceded by a reception, at 5:30 p.m. May 7 at Goodman Hall, Jack London Square, Oakland.

Chairwomen of the event are Mrs. Gert Geary and Mrs. Hewett D. Kendall.

Also being honored are four Berkeley residents — Bruce Alan Bolt, a native of Australia; Helga Sofia Albo of Finland; Christian P. Philippon, France; and Wanda Tomczykowska, Poland.

Reservations for the awards session may be made by calling the International Institute at 451-2906. The dinner is limited to 500 guests.

sale will run through April 27 at the Bank of California in Berkeley. A preview cocktail party was held Monday. Proceeds from the preview and sale will be used to aid financing of the new patient care wing at Herrick.

Senior citizen news

Stephanie Fallcreek, director

Senior Citizens' Center Not by the hairs on my chin, chin, chin," says "Tiny" Kampe, long time member of the Albany Senior Center. But he is willing to do the Samson routine to his face—if there are enough "yes" votes. The Albany Senior Center is willing to sacrifice his hirsute appearance to help raise funds for the Senior Center building fund. Votes are selling for 25 cents each. Anyone who wishes to vote may do so by coming in to the Albany Senior Center, paying a quarter, and casting their ballot. This "election" is open to all, and votes "yes" or "no" soon. This is one time you may vote more than once.

MONDAY—Adult School classes at the Senior Center begin at 9:30 with "The Age of Napoleon," taught by Jim Bradley. This class is like a history of the period, rich in color and music, the story and political drama of the era. Creative Retirement begins at noon with a speaker from the Grey Panthers. Human Relations, taught by Leila Henderson, is continuing with "Why I Am Afraid to Tell You Who I Am?" This course has already been very helpful to some of the members of the class, as it is designed to help people communicate their feelings more effectively, without fear. Baked Chicken is the main course tonight at supper time.

THURSDAY—Bingo begins our day on Thursdays at 10:30. It's a fun-filled day at the Center, for right after Bingo, there's Singing at 11:30. You should have been there to treat your ears to the harmony of "Down by the Old Mill Stream." Cards are played after noon. Supper is meatballs in tomato sauce. Thursday the 28th at noon is the BIRTHDAY PARTY for March and April. Come celebrate!

FRIDAY—Art Projects class meets at 10 a.m. The Community Service Group also meets at 10 a.m. Come noon bag lunch and stay to play Bridge at 12:30. If you make reservations early, you can stay for supper. Tonight's fare is tuna noodle casserole.

SATURDAY—Open at noon for World Affairs Class with Leo Vuosalo. Come to this two-hour class, and keep informed on world events that affect your lives. Then you can learn to dance from 1 to 5 p.m. with teacher Miriam Heath. MEN! Learn cross-stitch embroidery with Paul Harting 10 to noon. Ladies are invited, too. Class limited to ten, so sign up! Sun. 24: open at noon for bag lunch, coffee, cards & conversation. A good way to round out your day—come to the Center, and talk and play cards with your friends!

MONDAY—Creative Writing Class continues with sharing personal experiences from 9:30 to 11:30. Come and share your history with this nice group led by Marcy Allencraig. Hall Council Chambers. Here at the Center at 2 p.m. is DENTAL CLINIC. Students from University of the Pacific will be at the Center to examine teeth, and recommend any further care necessary—this like all Health Clinics we have, is FREE. Supper at 4 p.m. is Breaded Veal.

TUESDAY—Needlecraft and other crafts. Pearl Cook is the teacher for those who want to learn crochet, knitting, embroidery and many crafts. Come to noon bag lunch, then stay to work off those extra pounds, or just loosen up your muscles at 2 p.m. Exercise Class with Sue Altenbach. These classes are specially designed for Seniors, so come on and participate! Supper is Beef Burgundy.

WEDNESDAY—Classes begin at 9:30 with "Age of Napoleon." Noon to 1:30 is Creative Retirement. "A Look at the World of Art," speaker is Ruth Anderson of the University of California Art Museum. 1:30 to 3:30 is 30 is Human Relations. Supper is Chicken Croquettes.

TRIPS—May 9 Larkspur Trip is still open for reservations. $6 for members, $7 for non-members. Ride to San Francisco on chartered bus, visit the Hyatt Regency, then take the new hydrofoil to Larkspur, returning by bus to the City to lunch at the Cliff House. And a one-a, and-at-two-a: come with us to South Shore to see Lawrence Welk June 27 & 28. Travel to S. Lake, see the Cocktail Show, staying overnight at South Shore, then go into Reno the next day. Cost is $40 for members, $42 for non-members. More details later on the package. May 23 and 24th, there's GOLD in them thar hills! $38 for members, $41 for non-members. Leave from in front of the Senior Center at 8 a.m., then on to San Andreas. Breakfast stop, then on to Jamestown for the Roundhouse Tour. After that travel to Columbia State Park for a prepaid buffet lunch. Your choice of enchilada plate, fillet of sole, hot beef sandwich or hamburger steak, plus extras. Stay at San Andreas for the night, then on to Daffodil Hill and Old Town Sacramento the next day, arriving back in Albany in early evening. Included in the cost is transportation, lodging and the buffet at Columbia State Park.

We get you where you want to go.

If you're looking for extra money, have a look around the house.

If you've owned your home for even a few years, chances are you've got a lot more borrowing power than you think you have.

How much more? Depending on your ability to repay, you may be able to obtain a Bank of America Home Equity Loan for up to 80% of the Bank's appraised value of your home, less whatever you still owe. Loans from $5,000 to $25,000 are available at an annual percentage rate of 12%. Your loan is secured by a second deed of trust on your house and you can repay the loan in equal instalments over a period of five to fifteen years. The finance charge is calculated on a simple interest basis. And there is no penalty for prepayment. You can pay off your loan at any time — and the sooner you do, the lower the total amount of interest you will pay.

Your home can provide the funds for a wide range of worthwhile purposes. You may even combine several purposes in one loan.

The accompanying chart shows typical examples of repayment schedules for a variety of Bank of America Home Equity Loan amounts and terms.

A Home Equity Loan is a serious responsibility, one you should consider carefully. So feel free to come by any convenient Bank of America branch and discuss a loan program to fit your particular needs and budget. Our people are ready to help you find out just how much borrowing power you really have.

Depend on us for loans. More Californians do.

Lawrence Lab picked as site for U.S. solar heat project

Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory has been selected as one of the sites for a national demonstration project on the solar heating of buildings.

The selection was announced by the Federal Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA). The project will see the installation of solar units on the roof of one of LBL's largest buildings.

The major components of the water-based solar system are a 3,000 gallon water storage tank and 1,250 square feet of solar collectors. The system will provide approximately 32 percent of the LBL building's hot water and space heating, according to LBL project engineer Tom Webster.

The system will be linked to the building's present heating system.

The estimated cost of the project is $105,000. Four south-facing banks of flat plate collectors will be installed on the roof of LBL's Engineering, Administrative and Information Services Building, which is also known as Building 90. These panels will be tilted to draw the maximum heat from the winter sun. The insulated 3,000 gallon storage tank will be buried next to the building. Water heated by the solar panels will be stored in the tank. When the stored water reaches a certain temperature it will be circulated throughout the building's present heating system. At night, the heated storage tank, acting as an "energy reservoir," will continue to provide warm water to heat the LBL building, according to Webster.

"This is an example of retrofitting," says Webster. "That is, furnishing an existing building with a new system." He adds that ten other buildings across the country will also be retrofitted with solar systems in this program for federal facilities sponsored by ERDA.

Of the 32 percent heating factor with the LBL system, Webster states: "A solar system is never intended to provide 100 percent of a building's heating requirements; it would be too expensive. The solar system should be considered part of the overall heating system."

The project calls for the soliciting of bids from contractors. The solar collectors will be purchased and installed by a private company. Installation of the units at LBL is scheduled for this fall, and the system is expected to be operating by the end of the year.

LBL's Plant Engineering Department is designing the solar system; they will also be managing the project. The Laboratory's Energy and Environment Division's engineers are designing the controls for the system.

Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory is operated by the University of California under contract with the Energy Research and Development Administration.

New tour guide for bicyclists

SACRAMENTO — Warmer weather, longer days and vacations ahead mean it's time to dust off the bicycle that's been hiding in the garage this past winter, and start planning a tour!

The California Department of Transportation has prepared a 100 page four-color touring guide for the 1,000 mile long Pacific Coast Bicentennial celebration; and although many thousands of copies have been sold, they are still available.

The Guide is available by mail for $1.00 (plus tax for California residents) from Caltrans Publications Unit, 6002 Folsom Boulevard, Sacramento, CA, 95819.

Students build workable small solar energy plant

By JEAN JERNIGAN
I-G Staff Writer

A small solar energy plant, capable of delivering one cup of boiling water per minute, has been designed and built by young people at Trinity Methodist Church, Durant at Dana.

Originally planned as a demonstration project, the plant worked so well Easter Sunday, dispensing quantities of hot water for coffee or bouillon served to people on the church courtyard following services, the project may become a permanent installation.

"We may place the plant out in front, for all who pass by to see and learn from, but we definitely are planning more demonstrations here," said Susan Fitch, assistant-minister and a student at the Pacific School of Religion.

However, Steve Lyke, one of the designer/builders, said that the design of the unit is such that it could be placed on the roof with a clock drive to turn it as the earth turns, and plugged in to the water supply, to be used on a permanent basis for the church kitchen.

Nine months in the making, the project stemmed from an idea planted by Professor Otto Smith, when he gave a talk at the church last July. Smith, a professor in electrical engineering at the University of California here, gave a talk on a large scale solar energy plant already in existence, and expressed his thoughts on how an even better plant could be designed.

"He was really into power generation," Lyke said, "and he started us thinking." Ms. Fitch, who had invited the professor to speak, said the professor's language had been beyond her capabilities and she didn't understand much of what he was saying.

"The next thing I knew, Steve and some of his friends were at my house with a book and a calculator and the idea to build a solar energy plant."

"We had a lot of subsequent meetings, and I didn't understand anything, it was really crazy, but they said it would be easy, so I said o.k."

The "they" Ms. Fitch referred to includes Lyke, a graduate student in chemical engineering at UC-Berkeley, Dan Wacks, a graduate student in biochemistry at UCB, Ken McCreedy, a grad student in history, George Brown, an undergrad, Jim Hammer, Tim Sands, E. Z. Alford, and five or six others.

A month was spent in the planning stages, and construction on the plant began in August when the frame was built, with an assist from Dean Larwood, a master carpenter.

Materials for construction were gleaned by the builders from any source that could be found. Two by twos were found in the church workshop, Brown found some two by eight pieces of plywood, and the offset plates were done for the reflector.

"We bought the pipes and fittings," Lyke said, "we used old billboards for some dramatic event as support for the reflector surfaces. The insulation was 'recycled' from another project, as was the thermometer. We used a large nail (sun finder) to make shadow cast by the sun indicate the degree of turning for the reflector surface."

Originally the design planned to use aluminum foil for the reflector, but proved to be too crinkly, they shifted to the use of offset printing plates. The result is a plant that's not too look at, as well as efficient. It measures four and a half feet wide, and nine feet high with a 10 foot piece of pipe

The project was tested, warming water in February, and put into successful operation Easter Sunday, when some 50 people were served boiling hot coffee. "We could serve more at one time," Lyke emphasized.

For the demonstration the plant was set up in the church courtyard and plugged into a garden hose water supply. The water then went through the design and emptied into an insulated pot. At present, the plant has to be shifted manually as the sun's rays shift.

Another demonstration planned soon, according to Ms. Fitch, and the plant may become a permanent fixture. Meanwhile, in between demonstrations it is stored for safekeeping in the church workshop.

ALBANY — The twenty-first baseball season of the Albany Little League will open Saturday, with a parade, opening day ceremonies, six baseball games and a country-western dance in the evening.

All teams will participate in the parade accompanied by city dignitaries, color guard, an Albany school band, floats, clowns, sponsors and antique automobiles.

The schedule of activities follows:
At 10 a.m. the parade will start at Tulare and Solano Avenue traveling west on Solano and then south on Jackson to the baseball diamonds at University Village.

Immediately following the parade the opening day ceremonies will be held at Diamond No. One, at about 11 a.m. Teams will gather on the diamond for formal introductions and the "tossing of the season's first ball." Each year this has been the first public appearance of the mayor as traditionally on the Monday prior to the opener. Six baseball games will follow the ceremonies being played on both Diamond No. One and Two.

The country-western dance will be held at 9 p.m. at the Memorial Building, 1325 Portland, with a no-host cocktail hour beginning at 7 p.m. By popular demand, the Southern Comfort band who played this event last year will return to play all favorites. A portable television will be given as a door prize. At 10 p.m. a buffet of roast beef, ham salad and relishes will be served.

Tickets for the dance may be purchased at the door or from Little League personnel. A donation of $5 per person is asked.

The Albany Fire Department's snorkel will again lead the parade with the American Legion Color Guard of Post 282.

City dignitaries participating will be city councilmen Robert Luoma, Lewis Howell, Michael Gleason (former Albany Little League player), Pat Griffin and Joyce Jackson. Also, Mike Koepke, fire chief; Jim Simmons, police chief; Bud Rooney, superintendent of parks and recreation; Jim Turner, administrative assistant to the city council; Charles McCulley, superintendent of the Albany School District; Jaqueline Milne, deputy city clerk and Ellen Zapata, city treasurer. The Chamber of Commerce will be represented by Bill Lacy, chamber president; Sue Richardson, Maid of Albany and Hal Denham, chamber manager.

League president will have double duty as he will represent the league and the park and recreation commission, of which he is a member. Other commissioners to attend are Tony Kalberer, Chris Van Echert, Ruth Meniketti, Bill Woolworth, Chris Caras and Clay Berling.

Others featured in the parade are sponsors Albany Lions Club, Herb Lein and Dick Kistner, Kistner and Gary Smith, of the Albany Body Shop, will drive their antique automobiles.

Rounding out the parade will be the Albany Whirlites, a float sponsored by the Town Hall Meeting Committee featuring an original school bell owned by Catherine Webb. Clown will be the seventh grade Campfire Girls who will be giving coupons to spectators. These coupons, when presented with the purchase to the Sizzler Family Steak House on April 25, 26 and 27 and May 2, 3 and 4, will give Albany LITTLE League 10 percent of the purchase.

The parade band will be the Middle School Band, under the direction of Albany High School's director of music, Ernest Douglas.

Hearing set on pronghorn antelope hunt

ALTURAS—A hearing on a proposed special hunt for pronghorn antelope in northeastern California has been scheduled by the California Fish and Game Commission.

The hearing on the proposed hunt for buck antelope in Modoc, Lassen, Shasta and Siskiyou counties Aug. 27 to Sept. 5 will be held at 7 p.m. May 3 in the California Department of Forestry fire station, Eighth and D Streets, Alturas.

Commissioner Joseph Russ III of Ferndale, Humboldt County, will preside over the hearing.

TWO FIRSTS—Gary Smith (right) owner of Albany Body Shop, became new sponsor of Little League's Tigers, last week. He is shown above with Little Madero, the league's first woman manager, and her son, outfielder Scott. Other new sponsors signing last week include Pisco's Restaurant, Nevada Tavern Tours, Alcan, Jim Arnold's Upholstery, Buernier Inc., Lukes and Shorman Auto Parts, and Armstrong and Armstrong Insurance. —Luoma photo

Country-western benefit dance for Little League

ALBANY — The Second Annual Country-Western Dance hosted by the Albany Little League will be held Saturday, at 9 p.m. at the Memorial Building, 1325 Portland. A no-host cocktail hour will start at 7 p.m. Dance chairman Betty Harris has obtained a portable television to be given as a door prize. Many other prizes will be given throughout the evening. A 10 p.m. buffet will be served consisting of roast beef, ham rolls, assorted salads and relishes.

Guests who attend in western attire will have the "at home" feeling as the decoration committee will have outdone themselves.

Mrs. Harris plans unusual and original table decorations to compliment stage and wall decorations.

Music will be furnished by Southern Comfort and the public is urged to attend. The major fund raiser for the league has as its committee Sharon Holaday, Ingrid Haney, Sidney Reed, Linda Weissflog, Fern Luoma, Mary Bailey, Shirley Santos, Brianne Caras and Bev August.

The male staff include Jim Harris, Pete Caras, Don August, Bill Lewis, Chris Caras and Rod Haney. A five dollar donation per person is asked with tickets available at the door from league personnel.

Refreshment booth opening

ALBANY — Open all day Saturday for the public's convenience will be the Little League's refreshment booth with a new item. Auxiliary president Betty Harris is offering barbecued beef sandwiches along with the foot-long hot dogs. Her crew is arranging to hold the largest bake sale in the League's history. A good supply of traditional game treats will be available including pop corn, soda pop, ice cream and sugarless gum.

Announcing The "Any Reason" Loan

$5,000 and up for homeowners

Money to go for practically anything. Now you can borrow on your home and use the money for practically anything—such as travel, a vacation home, education, consolidating old debts, new furniture, installing a swimming pool, or paying medical expenses.

Use the equity that's in your home. You may be surprised at the amount you can borrow on your home: take the market value of your home—what it would sell for today, and multiply that by 80%. From this figure, subtract the balance of all loans against your home. The remainder, if greater than $5,000, is the amount you can probably borrow with an "Any Reason" Loan.

11.50% Annual Percentage Rate (APR). The Mechanics Bank "Any Reason" Loan A.P.R. is 11.50%. The Annual Percentage Rate as stated here is quoted before any loan fees, where applicable. The table below lists some of your borrowing and repayment options.

Registrations being taken for Albany summer classes

ALBANY — The Albany Unified School District now is taking registration of pupils for a five-week Summer School to begin June 27 and end on July 29. All classes begin at 8:50 and end at 12:10. The Summer School program is open only to public and private school pupils who are residents of the city of Albany.

A variety of courses will be offered to strengthen basic skills as well as provide enrichment activities. Pupils who are presently in grades pre-kindergarten through third will attend Cornell School. Summer School for those students presently in grades 4-7 will be held at Albany Middle School.

The Summer School program is open to pupils presently in grades pre-kindergarten through grade seven, and present eighth graders may enroll on a space available basis.

Children who are five years of age, or will be five years of age by the closing date of the Summer Session (July 29, 1977), have first preference for kindergarten enrollment. Children who will be four years nine months of age on September 1 and who will enroll in kindergarten next fall will be accepted if space is available.

Albany trackmen groom for meet with Hornets

ALBANY — The Albany School Track Team, coached by Coach Joe Cruz, will meet the Pacific High School Hornets on Thursday at 3:30 p.m. in the field when the Hornets come to Albany.

Co-captains Tim Wright and Bob Zoro won every event they entered while scoring personal bests in the triple jump (42' 3") and the 880 (2:05). Sophomore Scott Bryan improved to 10.3 while winning the 100 and Senior Roland De La Torre pole vaulted 10' 6" for second place. Junior Tom Brown put the shot 44' 10" for third place and Frosh-Soph team members Eric Helmgren (shot and discus) and Carl Hill (pole vault) also scored personal bests in winning their events. The Varsity 440 relay improved to 44.7 (and lowered it to 44.0 at the Kennedy Relays on Saturday) and the mile relay shaved 17 seconds off its previous best with a winning time of 3:35. "I'm delighted with the progress of our team," stated Coach Cruz. "I think we'll be very competitive against Alameda — and we might even beat them."

Albany Bowl New high set in 720 series

By PHIL ALSTON
Ed Cotright ripped off games of 254-211-255 for 720 series in the 915 Majors and Charlie Koop fired a 289 game in the course of his 714 cluster in the 194 Club competition to lead last week's scoring at Albany Bowl. For both bowlers the scores were personal highs for the season.

They were not alone in their efforts to put big numbers on the board, however. Paco Vasquez pitched a 680 total for the Nevada Tahoe Tours team in the Majors. Evans Westmoreland had 679 for Wednesday Scratch Trios and Carl Hendrix gave Albany Travelers a 657 set. Vasquez's best series of the year helped Full House keep alive its faint hopes for a first place finish in the Majors with a 20 to 5 win over ACA. The winners had games of 1043-1051-940 for 5034 total series.

The league leaders, O & R Vending, absorbed an 18-7 loss at the hands of Merry Jax, but still hold a 9 1/2 point advantage over Full House with only one week of the schedule remaining. John Taylor's 636 and Dave Wickman's 611 were major contributions to Merry Jax success.

In the Majorettes, front running Associated Coin Amusements wriggled past

BHS wins

Freida Cobbs strained a hamstring muscle in her right leg at the Arcadia Invitational Saturday, so Berkeley was forced to scratch from the mile relay.

The Jackets won the 440 relay in 48.9 with a team of Cobbs, Kim Burgess, Kim White and Candy Ross. Ross was fifth in the low hurdles at 14.9 and was second in the high jump at 5-6. White was sixth or seventh in the 100, but no time was available.

Diablo Bowling Supply 12 1/2 to 9 1/2 and got a helping hand from the Rich Altman Dance Band, which almost annihilated second place Urban Alternatives, 19-3. Denise Altman led the Band with 213-562.

Lupe Leomiti provided the Majorettes best series by punching out games of 192-191-201 for 592 in leading Wigatourium 15 1/2 to 6 1/2 over Marge Hall. Nancy Wenger was next best with 584 and Jess Balcombe spiced her 581 series with 236 game.

On position round night in the Tri City League, Richmond Brass broke out of a tie with Alley Cats by taking all three games from the Cats to win second half honors. Dave Ojeda's 528 led Richmond Brass. Charles Durkee had league high series for the night at 572.

Larry Glenn topped scoring in the Woodstarkers League with 221-592. Jim Reynolds had 242 game in his 606 set for Wednesday 660 Scratch, and Craig Timm closed with 233 for 569 in leading Foster Freeze Fours.

Lynne Palmer was back at the head of the list for the Ladies 630 Scratch with 551, and Steve Parks paced Volney Morrison Memorial on 586.

Bev Umamoto posted games of 182-212-202 for 576 total in winning the Saturday afternoon sweep for a paid entry into the U.S. Open Eliminations.

Alan Merriam, out of the Foster Freeze Fours loop, took the early lead in the Beat Your Average tournament, sponsored by the Albany Lions Club, by shooting 139 pins over average for his three games.

Darlene Cincera and Gloria Mohrbacher earned $130 for their 1524 total, good for first place in the Fun Tournament. Second place and $100 went to Joyce Beleele and Alice Blackshee.

Albany whips Piedmont; Alhambra trips Liberty

After-spring vacation play resumed for five local baseball squads last week and the sharpness lost during the layoff was apparent in the pitching, as four of the five contests were routs.

Two of the teams wound up with victories. Alhambra whipped Liberty 8-2 in its league opener. Albany romped over Piedmont, 17-4.

The other local clubs lost. St. Mary's was nipped by St. Patrick's, 7-6. Salesian was pounded by Bishop O'Dowd, 11-2, and John Swett was ripped by Vanden.

Alhambra was led by Joe Balderston's sterling pitching performance. He allowed just one hit and no runs in his six-inning stint.

Vince Albanese and Marcus Wright had big days at the plate. Albanese went two for two, including a double and the game-winning hit, a two-run homer in the fourth. He drove in three runs. Wright had three singles and an RBI.

Albany jumped all over Piedmont pitching for 19 hits. Six batters had at least two safeties. Raul Ybarra was three for five with three RBI. John Davis had three hits in five at bats and drove in five runs. Greg Westphal had two hits in four trips, including a three-run homer in the first, and scored three runs.

John Luty went three for four and scored four times. Ken Torres and Jay Heeb added two hits each. Jerald Wiley drove in two runs.

St. Mary's was not so lucky. After jumping out to a 5-0 lead with single runs in the first and second innings and three runs in the fourth, St. Patrick's came back in the bottom of the fourth to tie it.

The Bruins picked up another run in the fifth. The Panthers tied it up in sixth on Ron Woods' triple and an error. But St. Patrick's scored the winning run in the bottom of the frame on a triple and a single.

John Swett had only one bright spot in its game at Vanden and that was Chuck Scandlyn's 420-foot homer in the fourth inning.

Salesian lost its game in the third and fourth innings when O'Dowd bunched together 10 hits to score all 11 runs.

State Parks reduce reservation advance

SACRAMENTO — State Park campsite reservations will be available this summer only 30 days in advance, rather than the usual 90 days, State Parks and Recreation Director Herbert Rhodes announced today.

The change is necessary, Rhodes said, because the effects of this year's drought make it impossible to ensure, with reasonable degree of accuracy, that normal campsite services will be available more than 30 days in the future.

The change became effective April 11, but all reservations already made up to 90 days in advance will be honored, he said. "We believe that all reservations that have been made can be honored," Rhodes said, "and the original reservations cannot be honored. We will be offered a range of alternatives as possible."

Reservations have been made for "developed" campsites (piped water and shower services, and usually hot showers) and the campground has had to be changed to "primitive" campsites (no piped water, no showers, and perhaps limited water supply). The campers will be offered their choice of cancelling the reservation with a full refund, accepting the reduced service with a partial refund, or using "developed" campsites at nearby state park campgrounds, if available.

Rhodes said the change will not affect Hearst Castle tours, which may be reserved from 60 days in advance until the day before the tour. State park campsite reservations may be made as late as Saturday for the following weekend.

Reservations may be made at any of the more than 150 Ticketron outlets in California. To learn the address of the nearest Ticketron outlet, in San Diego, phone (714) 565-9947; in Los Angeles, phone (213) 670-1242; in San Francisco, phone (415) 788-2828; and in Sacramento, (916) 445-8828.

Persons unable to reach a Ticketron terminal in person may mail a reservation request and total fees to Ticketron, P.O. Box 26430, San Francisco, CA 94126. Reservations will be mailed, but no earlier than 30 days in advance. Application forms will be made available at Ticketron outlets and units of the State Park System in the near future.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE

The Traffic and Safety Commission of the City of Albany, will hold a meeting on Wednesday, April 27, 1977, at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers at 1000 San Pablo Avenue, Albany, for discussion of proposals to make Washington and Cerro Streets one-way.

At the regular meeting of the Albany City Council, on April 11, 1977, the Council referred the above matter back to the Traffic and Safety Commission to consider:

- 1) Alternatives to the traffic problems on Washington Street, i.e., stop signs, etc., and to come back to the City Council with a definite recommendation for this problem.
- 2) To consider the traffic problems on Cerro Street, and come back to the City Council with recommendations to alleviate the problem on Cerro.

The City Council directed that this meeting be advertised as widely as possible. In addition to the mailed notices, the notice will be placed in the Albany Times of Wednesday, April 20, 1977.

Persons interested and desiring to be heard, shall be present at the time and place above mentioned, or communicate in writing to the Traffic and Safety Commission prior to the time of this hearing.

WILLIAM H. FRALEY, PLANNING DIRECTOR, COUNTY OF ALAMEDA
1960A—April 20, 1977

Odegard, 83, a former pastor of the Albany Baptist Church, died in a Santa Barbara convalescent home, April 6, following a prolonged illness.

Mr. Odegard was born October 6, 1893, in Ringsaker, Norway. He came to the U.S. in 1911 and went to live with a brother in North Dakota where he worked on a farm for many months.

At a meeting held by the Salvation Army he "committed his life to Christ and soon after felt called into the gospel ministry." He was a graduate of the Northwestern Bible and Missionary Training School in Minneapolis in 1922, and also a graduate of the Northern Baptist Seminary of Chicago.

During his 50 years in the pastorate he served in Kasong, Minnesota; Chicago, Illinois; Sparta, Michigan; and Albany.

He was married to Esther Louise Olson on February 12, 1924 and the same year he was ordained into the ministry under the American Baptist Convention.

After his retirement in 1959, he occupied pulpits on an interim basis at various churches in the Bay Area for 8 years.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church, Santa Barbara, on April 9, at 10 a.m. Dr. Lowell McCormack officiating.

Dr. Odegard is survived by his wife, Esther; two daughters, Beverly Lee of Goleta, and Carol Lagerstrom of Canoga Park; a sister, Anna Granerud of Ringsaker, Norway; 8 grandchildren.

Services will be held Thursday at 11:30 a.m. in the Ellis-Olson Mortuary and will be conducted by the Albany Chapter No. 58 of the O.E.S., preceding interment in the Sunset View Cemetery.

Jennie Liotta, 76, a native of New York City and a resident of Albany for a past several years, died April 12 in a San Rafael nursing home.

Mrs. Liotta is survived by two daughters: Rosalie Robinson of Larkspur and Marie Ros of Pleasant Hill; a son, Vincent Liotta of San Leandro; four sisters: Mary Jacuzzi, Vincenza Riggio and Frances Riggio, all of Albany; a brother Carmelo Guarnieri of Berkeley; and eight grandchildren.

Mrs. Liotta was a member of the Valley View Baptist Church of El Sobrante.

Memorial services were conducted April 14 at the Valley View Church. Arrangements were under the direction of Ellis-Olson Mortuary.

Agnes B. Vasko, 83, a former longtime resident of El Cerrito who died at her home.

She was a native of Omaha, Neb.

Survivors include her widower, Frank; two daughters, Ruth Strye of Danville and Marjane Hawkins of Walnut Creek; a sister, May Squires of Elwood; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The Rosary was recited at 8:30 p.m. in the Drawing Room Chapel of Ellis-Olson Mortuary. Friends were invited to attend a blessing service Friday at 1:30 p.m. at the chapel.

Committal will be at St. Mary's Cemetery in Oakland.

William Tarleton

ALBANY — Services were held Monday at the San Pablo Chapel of William Tarleton, 87, who died Sunday in San Pablo, California, of a heart ailment.

He was a former man for Standard Oil's marketing plant.

He is survived by his widow, Enid of Albany; daughters, Mrs. Charles Smith of Orinda and Mrs. Fisher of Lafayette; a son, W. A. Tarleton, Jr., of Lafayette; two sisters, Florence Weeks of Oakland and Grace Walker of Los Angeles; a brother, Fred Tarleton of Los Angeles and 10 grandchildren.

Lillian M. Johnson, 81, native of Chico and a resident of Albany for a number of years, died April 16 in a Berkeley hospital.

She was a member of Albany Chapter 550, Order of Eastern Star, and selected as 1977 "Martha." She also belonged to Cerro de la Neve No. 306, Native Daughters of the Golden West.

Mrs. Johnson is survived by a daughter, Roberta H. lead of Vallejo, and grandchildren.

Services will be held Thursday at 11:30 a.m. in the Ellis-Olson Mortuary and will be conducted by the Albany Chapter No. 58 of the O.E.S., preceding interment in the Sunset View Cemetery.

Evelyn V. Appie, 81, died April 10 in a Berkeley hospital. A native of San Francisco, Mrs. Appie had lived in Albany for the past seven years.

She is survived by her daughters — Evelyn Rosemarie of San Diego and Constance Hill of Albany — son Ernest, Garden of the Earth, 13 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Services were conducted April 12, at 3 p.m. in the Ellis-Olson Mortuary, by Dr. Fred Stripp officiating. Interment was in a San Diego cemetery.

Water shortage will 'grow more critical'

SACRAMENTO — New figures compiled by the State Department of Water Resources (DWR) show that much of California will face even more critical water shortages late this year because of a chain of drought conditions.

There is almost no possibility of relief from the drought before November, the Department said.

Because of two consecutive dry winters, reservoir levels in the State are low. The mountain snowpack, which normally plays a major role in filling the reservoirs, was at a record low this winter. The soil in major watersheds has become so dry that much of the sparse snowmelt will simply be absorbed in the ground instead of running into streams and reservoirs.

Data for the April water conditions report, released today, point up the multiple problems. Lake Oroville is 45 percent full; Lake Shasta 32 percent; Folsom Lake 26 percent; and Millerton Lake 43 percent. The East Bay Municipal Utility District reservoirs are 13 percent full, and San Francisco water system reservoirs have 24 percent. These figures only partially reflect the severity of the water shortage since the forecast April-July runoff is generally only a bare fraction of normal.

Many reservoirs which normally would be filling at this time of year are being drawn down instead as inflow fails to match water demand in the systems.

The mountain snowpack — a key factor in forecasting the State's water supply — has the lowest water content on record. While satellite images show that snow this year covered 10 percent more area than in 1976, ground data show that snow water content is 38 percent less than last year.

Albany police cars lucky to last two years

ALBANY — The luckiest Albany police cars are run at breakneck pace round-the-clock for two years.

After that, the stars are scrubbed off the doors, the lights are removed and the tough little Plymouths are sold to private citizens hoping to squeeze out some more mileage.

Not every Albany police car is lucky, however. For example, four gleaming new Plymouths just joined the force a few weeks ago.

Already, one has been "totaled out" in a nighttime highway crash. The crumpled body, with paint still bright, has a temporary resting place in a local lot prior to dismantlement.

Another of the new police cars has been severely damaged in a head-on collision which followed a U-turn maneuver by a fleeing suspect. It has been repaired and returned to duty, its perfection marred.

City council members who approved purchase of the new cars are wondering how half of them could come to this sad condition so quickly.

Even the lucky police cars have plenty of close calls. Officers involved consider themselves lucky, too.

Accidents can be unlucky for both cars and drivers.

The recently-totaled car, painted green for juvenile work, was driven by Officer Ed Delatorre who is okay. He was thrown out of the car, taken to the hospital, treated and released.

The other car was driven by Officer Oren Rae. He was treated and released but is recovering from a back injury.

Merit Sparks Low Tar Boom!

'Enriched Flavor' tobacco seen as major factor in unprecedented smoker move to low tar.

Since its introduction, MERIT has become one of the most popular new cigarettes in twenty years.

A popularity largely responsible for a significant growth in low tar smoking.

The reason: 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. Tobacco that delivers extra flavor without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

The kind of flavor smokers can switch to—and stick with.

Here are the taste-test results which show why smokers are switching to MERIT. If you smoke, you'll be interested.

© Philip Morris Inc. 1977

Kings: 8 mg. "tar," 0.5 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette, FTC Report Dec. '76
100's: 12 mg. "tar," 0.9 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined
That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Tests Prove Taste

MERIT and MERIT 100's were both tested against a number of higher tar cigarettes. The results proved conclusively that 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco does boost taste without the usual increase in tar.

Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of both MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested.

Cigarettes having up to 60% more tar! Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

And you can taste it.
